Teaching

Since 2003 I have been involved in teaching at the Stockholm School of Economics and on our Executive Programmes. I have broad experience from developing and delivering financial education to students and management teams concerning all different parts of Accounting; Financial Accounting, Management Accounting/Control and Financial Analysis. In the undergraduate and graduate programmes I have been involved in the following courses:

- Basic Accounting (bachelor level)
- Accounting I: Understanding Financial Reports (bachelor level)
- Performance measurement and business control (bachelor level)
- Strategic Management Control (master level)
- Using Accounting Reports (master level)
- Current Issues in Accounting and Financial Management (master level)

- Accounting and Financial Statement Analysis (master level).
- Financial Communication (master level)
- Accounting and financial control for new business (master level)

Throughout the years I have also been involved in a number of open as well as tailor-made Executive Programmes for IFL at Stockholm School of Economics. For example:

- Civilingenjörsprogrammet, academically responsible for the program (targeting engineers who needs more accounting knowledge), as well as delivering modules in Financial Accounting (the three accounting reports, group accounting, key ratios), Management Control (investment decision-making, budgeting, costing, performance management, Economic Value Added, Balanced Scorecard) and Company Valuation.
- SSE Executive MBA new format, responsible for designing and teaching the Accounting module.
